Feature Presentation

Throughout the year our school and country had to overcome many obstacles. Our country had to defend our freedom and each individual student had to re-evaluate their safety in everyday life, but each person came out stronger because of it. With so much chaos going on on the television, many students turned off the "stupid box" and worked harder in classes and in different extracurricular activities at school. Some seniors were still trying to decide on what college they wanted to attend, while others had already made their decision on what dorm to stay in. Mostly all the Juniors and Sophomores did was wish that they would be able to make it through the day, while all the Freshmen hung out happily at each others' houses and watched movies. Yes, movies, what a big thing they became. Since no one could watch television, movies became a huge thing.

FBI Warning...

Federal law provides severe civil and criminal penalties for unauthorized reproduction, distribution, or exhibition of copyrighted motion pictures, video tapes, or video discs. This yearbook has been modified as follows from its original version. It has been formatted to fit the school year of 2001-2002.

So with no more interruptions... here's our Feature Presentation.

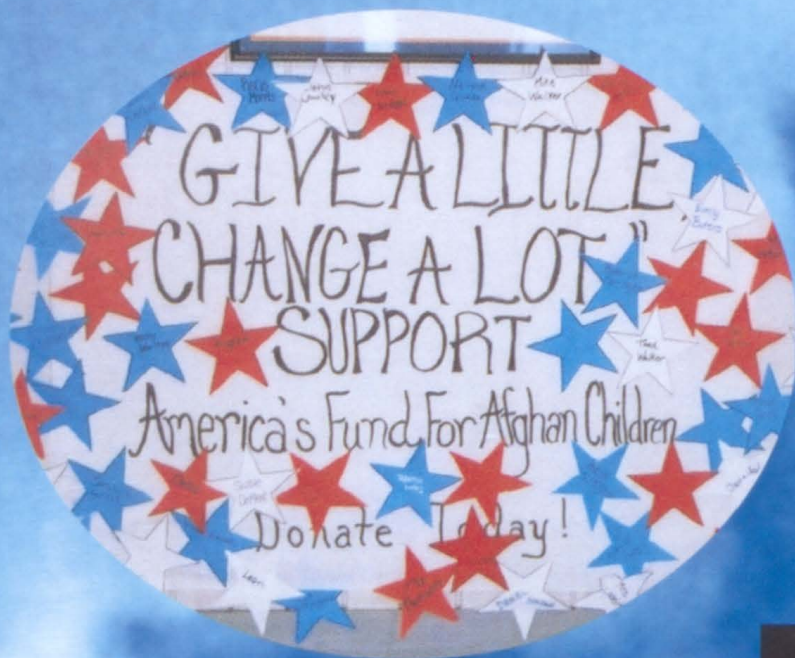

"God Bless the Victims", was displayed on our school billboard after the tragic events on September 11, 2001. These words were the most memorable throughout the school year..

Seniors Kendall Ingram and Jodi Beech explain the advantages and disadvantages of high school to Freshmen Mallory Lemmerman. Big Brother, Big Sister was very helpful for a lot of Freshmen.

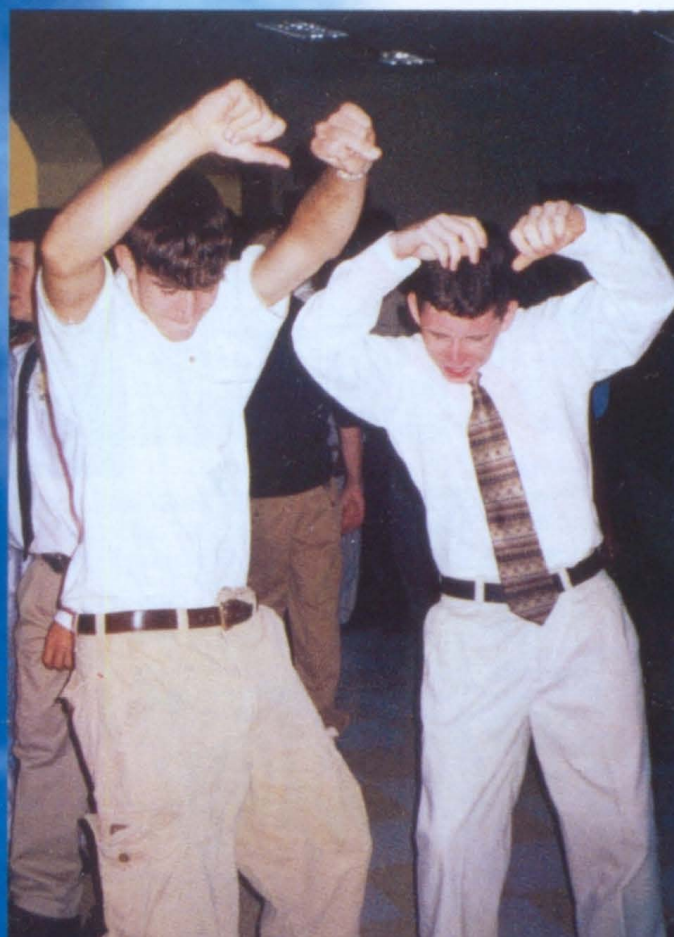

After the September 11th tragedy, President Bush asked all the children of the U.S. to donate one dollar to the government to buy food for Afghan children. The Student Council raised a very generous amount to send to the President.

Juniors Chris Wallace and Steadmen Benton illustrate that they can really stroke it. They danced the night away after our school's victory at the Homecoming Dance.

Seniors Dale Willis, Charles Lutz, and Daniel Sims dress up for "Orange and Blue Day". They showed that they were truly filled with spirit.

Behind the Scenes

Junior, Diann Peavy and Freshman, Brittany Blanks, give the crowd a big smile after the cheerleaders finished their cheer. The cheerleaders were a big part of keeping the audience pepped up during games and pep rallies.

Freshman, Mandi Pickett; Senior, Julynn Bradshaw; Freshman, Angela Minnick; Senior, Lauren Hinds; Freshman Paige Brown; Senior Nicki Huggins and Freshman LaShea Lawley pose for a shot during the Big Brother/Big Sister Program. This day was designed to give Freshmen an older person to talk to about issues during the year.

Juniors, Shawnkitta Moore, Cheros Fortune, Dominic Nix, and Brittney Farrington are dressed up for "Theme Day" during Homecoming week. Dress-up days were a fun way to show class spirit.

School Spirit

Behind the scenes at Montevallo High School, you would find many students working hard for various amounts of activities. For instance, behind Homecoming Week you would find a hard-working group of young people on Student Council working hard to make it happen. Behind the Shamrock Sale in the spring you would find the FBLA and National Honor Society students selling the shamrocks. Behind the wins on Friday nights you would find a dedicated group of guys and coaches on the football team. Behind the wonderful plays put on in the auditorium you would find Mrs. Clayton and the Moonlighters working hard to make sure the audience enjoy the performance. Behind every school day you would find a great staff of faculty members and teachers working hard to make sure we, the students got the best education possible. " I appreciate all the work and effort our teachers and staff here at MHS put in to make this school and better place and learning environment for my peers and me,"said Junior Dessilyn Chappell. Here at Montevallo all these people put together made the school year a great one.

Seniors, Matthew Hope and Bruce Hyer wait patiently to take Senior Portraits. Picture Day for the Seniors was during the summer.

The Senior Class goes wild after finding out they won the pep rally. Taking first place in the pep rally helped the Seniors win the entire Homecoming Week.

Freshmen, Kathy McLean and Ellen Thomas stand against the fence during a game. Football games were a good time to hang out with friends.

I Know What

We do know what you did last summer, and this is just a quick look back at what everyone else did last summer. Summer is a time filled with vacationing, working, hanging out, and catching up on your Z's. Most students stayed around town this summer while others ventured over seas. "I spent the first few weeks of my summer in France, Italy, and Switzerland, which were all beautiful places. It was an experience I will never forget," says Senior Nicki Huggins. Other students decided to make use of their free time by getting jobs, like Senior Rene Morris who said, "I did take some vacation time at the beach, but for the most part I spent most of my time working." Boy, two and a half months just is not long enough, is it?

This group poses for a picture in front of the Roman Coliseum in Rome, Italy. The group of current and former MHS students also traveled to France and Switzerland.

Ashley Brazzell, Pamesha Staffney, Stephanie Seay, Ebony Young, and Dominic Nix pose in front of Planet Hollywood at Disney World. The band went to Disney World to march in a parade.

Milli Huff, Shayla Gilbert, and Dessilyn Chappell are stepping out of an arcade called "Julian's" in Tennessee. These girls participated in an organization called Upward Bound, which traveled to Tennessee this summer.

You Did Last Summer

Constance Salter, Stephanie Seay, Dominic Nix, Tiffany Piper, Ashley Brazzell, and Vallan Cartwell are hanging out at McDonald's. Most students could have been seen just hanging around town during their free time.

Seniors Cambria Smith, Bruce Hyer, Nicki Huggins, Chris Stano, and Mathew Hope take a water break in the "Water City", Venice, Italy. These students also got to ride gondolas through the cities water canals.

Molly Walker, Sarah McMinn, and a teammate are mud sliding after a rain delay at an ASA tournament in Panama City. Their softball team, known as the Tempest, traveled many different places over the summer.

SUMMER

Varsity cheerleaders get together for a group shot at cheerleading camp. The cheerleaders attended camp at UAB this year.

Couples could have been seen everyday walking each other to class arm and arm before every period. Dating has all ways been a big part of the high school experience, whether your serious or looking for someone to share good times with. "Sloan and I have been together for a long time, and I couldn't think of anyone else I would rather spend my time with. He is like my best friend," comments Junior Dianne Peavy. So whether you have been one of those people, wished you were one, or decided to just play it solo, everyone will remember their high school dating experience, whether it was good or bad.

Marcus Harris and Kala Hudson are experiencing the couple life their Junior year. They could have been seen together a lot, as were the many other couples of Montevallo.

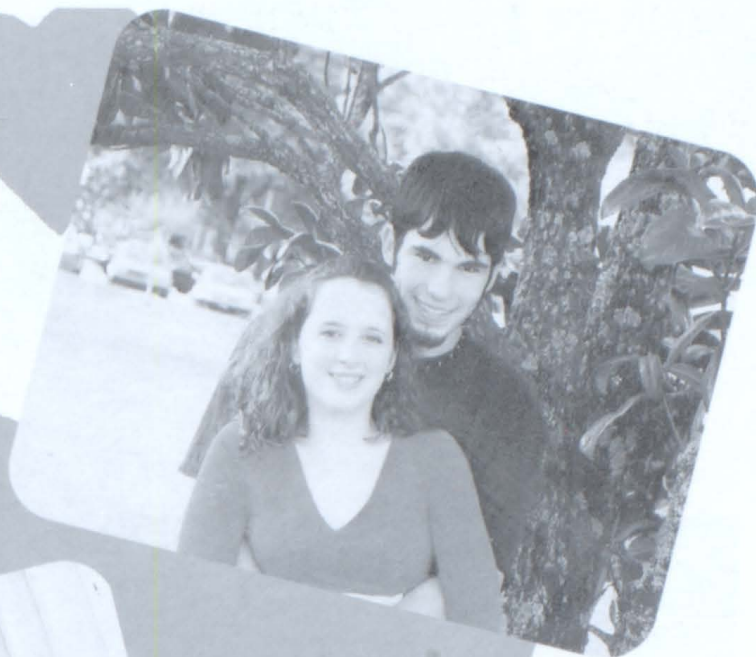

Cambria Smith and Bruce Hyer show their pearly whites. Many couples were often found gazing and smiling at each other for no reason.

Milli Huff and Lawrence Lilly get close for a picture. It was often hard for couples to get close at school, because of all the daily responsibilities of high school life.

Harper Carson and Jamie Southerland smile for the camera in a romantic setting. Most couples had their own spot where they would meet and talk before each class.

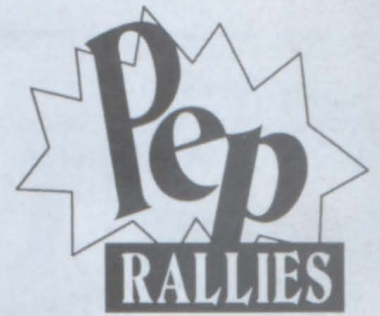

Joseph Padlo and Megan Thrash share some looks and words before class. This was often hard to do without hearing the wise words of Dr. Theodore, "Love will make you late."

Sloan Monk and Dianne Peavy pose for a quick picture before heading to class. Couples were often seen walking each other to class to try and steal a few minutes of closeness.

Abbi Maddox and Chris Wallace are spending some quality time chatting on campus. Couples were often found trying to sneak in as much "QT" time as possible in between their classes.

Scream

Sophomores Jamie Hoots and Ashley Lightfoot show spirit as they walk through the parade during Homecoming week. They were excited to walk with their class.

Seniors Nicki Huggins, Julynn Bradshaw, and Burnell Allen pump the crowd up at one of our pep rallies. They worked hard at getting the crowd ready for a victory.

The students this year had a great time at the pep rallies. Even though the pep rallies were hot, the students still cheered and hoped for a victory. The football players enjoyed and were thankful for the students support at the pep rallies. As the players entered the cheerleaders and dance team danced and showed as much spirit as possible. On our homecoming days the students were pumped; orange and blue was everywhere you turned. From screaming and cheering to dancing and painting their faces the students gave it their all. It was well appreciated by the football players and the coaches that the student showed so much spirit.

We've got SPIRIT

Varsity Cheerleaders Jessica Burkett, Abbi Maddox, Dessilyn Chappell, and Diann Peavy get the crowd ready for a victory. They did tremendous job on pumping the crowd up.

Tione Ray jumps at his best at one of our Homecoming activities. He was very pumped for this event.

Seniors Dana Crim, Jennifer Franklin, Lindsey Barnes, Rachel Ford and Kendall Ingram can't wait until the parade starts. They were very excited to walk for the senior class and show spirit.

Save The Last Dance

The 2001 M.H.S Homecoming Court was chosen by popular vote within each class. Each member of the court was chosen based on beauty, popularity, personality, and ability. Homecoming week also gave students a chance to compete against classes in events such as dress up days, penny count, can food drive, volleyball game, pep rallies, banner, and float competitions. Dress up days consisted of: Outdoors Day, Twins Day, Theme Day, and Orange and Blue Day. Students gained points everyday. They gathered at the end of the week at the football field to announce class winners and cheer on the bulldogs. After the game that night the annual dance was held in the cafeteria.

Varsity cheerleaders show their spirit in front of the homecoming burst through. They put together all the pep rallies this year.

Anna Godwin smiles for picture along with her uncle minutes after being crowned Homecoming Queen. Anna was in shock that she had gotten Queen.

IT'S A PARTY

Freshmen Katie Jones, Ellen Thomas, Nina Franks, Rosemary Maguire, and Chase Crum get creative on Twin Day. The freshmen came in third place during Homecoming.

Roderick Farrington showed his school spirit by dressing up as a cook on theme day. The Freshman Theme was "Kick It Up A Notch".

Sophomores captured Outdoors Day by dressing up as animals and hunters. They did an excellent job being creative.

The Senior float rolls by as the Homecoming parade begins. Senior worked hard everyday on their float. Their hard work paid off when they came in first place.

The Fast and Furious

Junior Renae Moore shows that a new car isn't everything. Old cars have style too!

"KIA" was seen often in the Montevallo High School parking lot. This car company became very popular last year.

Driving brings a whole new meaning to the word "Freedom." Going fast and having a nice ride are the two things that excites a teenager the most. Driving to school was considered one of the most important thing to do. For those of you who still ride the bus or have your parents drop you off and pick you up, don't worry, your time will come soon and someone will "bum a ride."

Focus on this! Junior A.J. Leggett was diffidently in full "Focus" when he chose his car.

Junior Gary Miller was proud to tell you his last name. So proud, he put it on his truck.

Ben Simmions scoots around town in his Acura. Sportier cars were seen more around M.H.S.

Rene Morris displays the American flag on her car. That was one way to show your patriotism.

Junior Amber Cleckler lets everyone know which car was hers. Personalized tags were a big hit.

WAR EAGLE! Teacher Tina Niven lets everyone know who her roots for.

Teacher Angela Triplett chose a license plate to show off her sorority. She was not ashamed to call herself an A.K.A.

Go Tigers! Junior Abbi Maddox also supports Auburn with her tag.

Just look at that tag! Senior Nicki Huggins drove her car proudly.

In & Out

Styles quickly come and go throughout the years at MHS. Many styles repeated themselves last year, such as hip-hugger jeans and capri pants, which were popular in the 70's and 80's. New name brands, like Aeropostale, came around and will probably linger for a while. Slip-on shoes, both Birkenstocks and tennis shoes, were a hit with most everyone. These shoes were trendy, comfortable, and easy to get on and off. Hair styles were always different, whether short or long, shaved or an afro, or braided or french-rolled. "I think fashion and style are a way for people to express their true personality," said Junior, Dessilyn Chappell. You definitely saw a wide variety of personalities displayed walking through the halls of Montevallo High School this past year. Whether some things will be around for a while or whether they will fade is all up to the students.

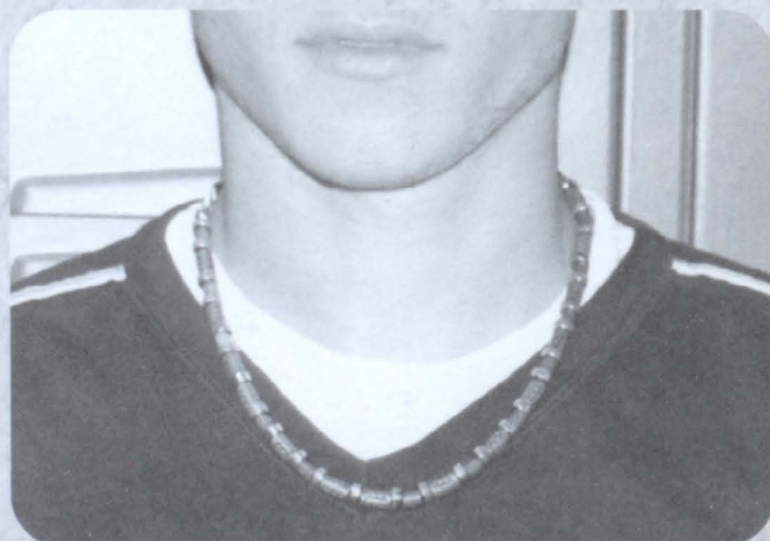

Jewelry is always good for girls. Big, hooped earrings remained hip this past year.

Guys' clothing style doesn't always change as quickly as girls' does. On the other hand, their hair styles were always different. Bleached hair was really in this year.

Jewelry is always a noticeable, trendy accessory. Many guys caught up on their jewelry-wearing with thick, beaded necklaces.

UNIVERSITY

This year at MHS students support the newest brand name to hit the local mall, Aeropostale. Both guys and girls alike were seen wearing this trendy logo.

Capri pants are still proven to be stylish after the past few years. These high-cut pants were a great way for girls to stay cooled off on hotter days.

Everyone wants to stay warm during the fall and winter months. Many ladies enjoyed wearing long sweater jackets to do the job and still look fashionable.

Skechers isn't a new brand, but you sure would think of them as the latest trend if you took a walk through the halls at MHS. People of both genders strutted their stuff in the newly designed shoes. Some were easy to slip on and very comfortable.

The Cast

Sophomores Valisha Cartwell, Raquel Harrell, and Stephanie Seay live it up during homecoming week. All the students enjoyed the competitions last year

Here at Montevallo High School we had a wide variety of different people. We had academic teams to football teams, band members to cheerleaders, Drama Club members to Future Farmers of America. The number of unique people here were uncountable because everyone here was one of a kind. There was one thing, however, that we shared in common and that was school spirit. The large amount of pride that was shown here at Montevallo was top of the line. The great staff tried to make the high school experience memorable. Whether you were a Freshman, Sophomore, Junior or Senior you had a part in making your experience at Montevallo High School last a Life Time.

Senior Jay Gilbert works hard to make good grades. This year was the Seniors last chance to excel before heading off to college.

Leading Roles

class of 2002
ended their high school careers with a bang.
Their last year here at MHS began with the Big Brother/Big Sister Program, Homecoming activities, and it ended with Prom and Graduation. It may have been stressful looking for the perfect college, but they toughed it out until the end. The Seniors were role models of the school and were always expected to be on the best behavior, helping others succeed.

John Dickson and his hunter friends show off their camo and their most recent kill on Outdoors Day. Dress up days were important to most Seniors since it was their last time to participate.

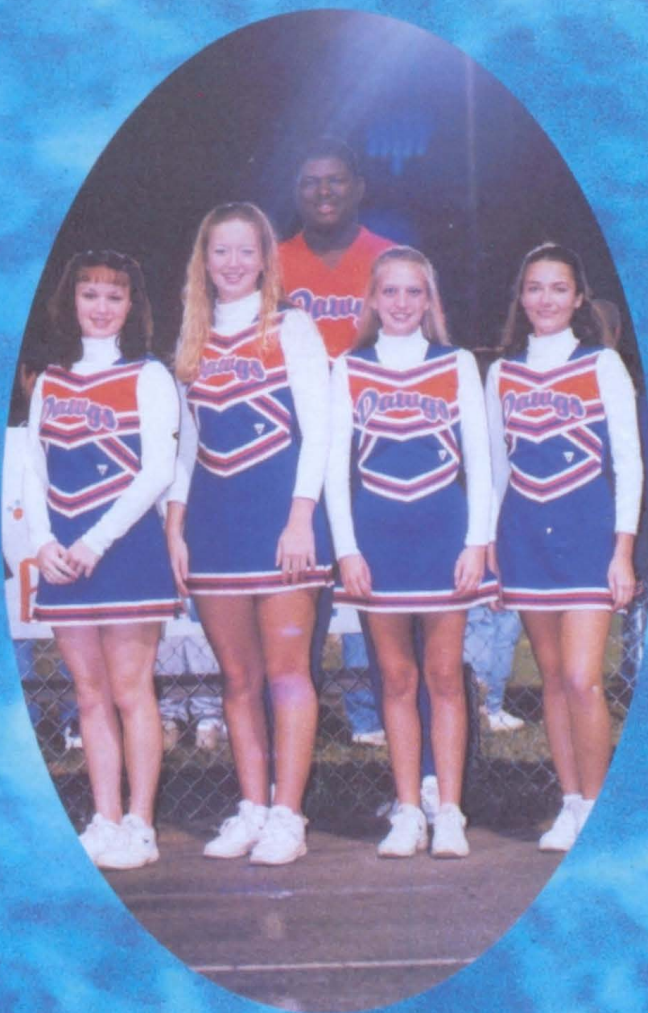

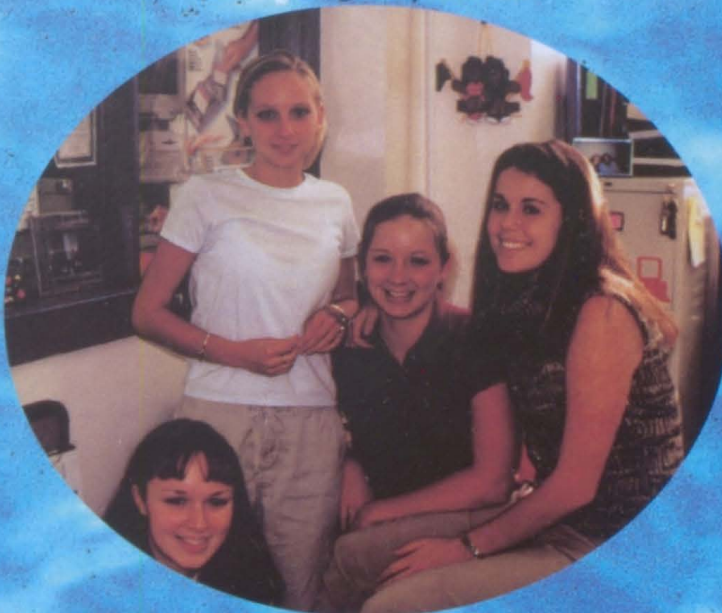

Senior Attendants Tonya Thompson, Milli Huff, and Anna Godwin wave as they ride by. The parade was enjoyed by all of Montevallo on homecoming day.

George Hall and Sean Hoots chill out and inform Justin Stephens on his upcoming high school life. The Big Brother/Big Sister program was very helpful in making the new crew feel at home at MHS.

Jared Dailey, along with his banjo, leads the Senior class in to be judged on Theme Day. This was an important day for the class to show off their country pride.

Senior cheerleaders Kira Minnick, Nicki Huggins, Burnell Allen, Julynn Bradshaw, and Christin Buttell pause before a game to smile for the camera. Senior night was an important night for all who were involved in football season.

Supporting Cast

The Class of '03 had an important job as the Supporting Cast. They almost had the Leading Role but first they had to complete some things. The Juniors accomplished many things last year like taking the ACT and PSAT. They came in second place last year during homecoming with their theme, "Plunder the Patriots". They ordered class rings and helped plan for Prom by being on the Prom Committee.

Junior, Adrienne Headley said, "My junior year was a fun year and it prepared me for next year."

THE UNDERSTUDIES

The Sophomores this year took things as they came. Seniors had to worry about college and exams but sophomores didn't. They didn't have to worry about being a Freshman or the first real year in high school. Most of the Sophomore class turned sixteen and got their licenses. This led to more responsibility for the Sophomore class. Homecoming was an exciting event for the sophomores. "Pickle The Patriots" was the chosen theme this year. They worked hard together on their float and took 2nd place. The Sophomores looked ahead to the good times and new adventures of being a Junior but the Sophomore class liked being the laid back Understudies.

The Extras

Last year's Freshmen began a whole new phase of life. This phase was high school. Although the first day may have been a little scary, they eventually got into the new flow. The Freshmen were a new, extra face in the halls, but they eventually became part of the MHS family with the help of events such as Big Brother/Big Sister and Homecoming week. The class of 2005 showed great enthusiasm throughout Homecoming week, and gave everyone a run for their money.

DIRECTORS

Last year at Montevallo High School the teachers really motivated the students to do well in school and in life. They were definitely directing the show. With new teachers, Amy Adams, Christy Bishop, Veronique Brown, Jennifer Turner, and Tena Niven they were ready for anything. These new teachers really helped the year go by smoothly. Faculty member Bobby Pierson was awarded teacher of the year for Montevallo High School. There might be troubles sometimes but with the help of these wonderful teachers next year will be just as successful as this past year.

Montevallo High School took pride in its athletic participation. Students gathered together on teams to compete in tennis, golf, softball, baseball, basketball, football, volleyball, and track and field, among others.

Each student who participated enjoyed it whether or not the season went as planned. Several coaches helped with each team's practices and seasons. Some teams even began practicing during the summer, to better prepare them for their long awaited seasons.

VARSITY BLUES

The 2001 Football season was a breath of fresh air compared to the 2000 Football season. Last Spring when the players set foot on the field, the coaches told them what to expect and how it was not going to be another embarrassing 3-6 season like the year before. The guys put their minds to it and came on top. By the end of the season they were 5-4. Hard losses at the beginning of the season started off with Senior Defensive Linemen Sean Hoots, breaking his leg in the Leeds game. In the middle of the season, Freshman Quarterback Blake Boren broke his collarbone at Jemison. The players had some obstacles to overcome. With the awesome leadership of Seniors, Chris Stano and Lawrence Lilly, the team overcame their obstacles. With 13 Seniors on the team, leadership was not hard to find when looked for. When it was time for action on the field, everyone stepped up and filled their role, whether it be tackling someone on the field or cheering their team mate on while from on the sidelines. All in all the 2001 Football season was a season to remember.

Senior Tight End, Lawrence Lilly, raises his hands in the shape of a field goal to show Montevallo got the touchdown. Every touchdown was vital during the season.

Junior D.J. Barnes tries to avoid the tackle so he can get more yardage for a first down. D.J. was a very important player this year and rushed for over 100 yards in more than one game.

Senior Justin Hill and Sophomore Anthony Purnell watch the game as they take a water break. After giving it their all out on the field, water was a refreshing way to cool off.

Last year, the Varsity Basketball players played their hearts out. Many players returned and the team had the opportunity to get back in the groove of things. Guided by Coaches Pierson, Dukes, and Smith, the Bulldogs fought hard to show their "true" BULLDOG PRIDE.

Coach Pierson always wanted his players to go the extra mile. Seniors wanted their last year to be a memorable and special one, and it was.

The gym was always packed with supporting and anxious fans who were waiting to see an energetic game.

The Lady Dogs lit up the court this past year by taking in many victories and playing in five tournaments. This group of highly athletic young ladies, coached by Johnye Horton, started the year with intense practicing throughout the Fall to be prepared for the upcoming season. "This has been a challanging season for all of us," said Senior Cambria Smith, "As we played one game to the next, we got better and learned a lot from each other."

This year was a year of changes for the Montevallo High School Varsity Cheerleading Squad. They kicked things off in March 2001 by selecting fifteen girls and one guy for the new squad. In the summer, they attended a new camp at the University of Alabama at Birmingham and did extremely well. The squad received 2nd place in dance competition, 2nd place in Camp Champs cheer competition, and all superior ribbons. Julynn Bradshaw, Christin Buttell, and Abbi Maddox were chosen as all-stars. The group practiced liberties, chairs, extensions, elevators, reloads, and basket-tosses in their elite stunt classes and throughout the year. "It was a very, very busy year, but I've learned a lot. I've enjoyed working with last year's new squad and look forward to doing it again next year", said new coach Nan Franks. Things were definitely improved last year.

When most people think about high school sports, football and basketball come to mind. Montevallo High School's Golf Team has always worked hard to be the best. The Golf Team members could always be found at the golf course working on their game whenever they had spare time. Sponsor, Tony Berry, was always willing to help them out with any problems. The Golf Team played various schools and competed in County and Sectional Tournaments. The Golf Team's work paid off and they had a very good season last year.

A LEAGUE OF THEIR OWN

The varsity softball season started with tryouts in January. After tryouts, practice became an everyday activity. The practices were held at Orr Park. They played a total of four Tournaments and hosted two Tournaments. The team played ten area games. The hard work and determination of the team led to many victories. Sophomore, Daphne Williams said, "The reason I like softball is because it is fun and keeps me out of trouble."

Last year's Tennis Team started out originally with twelve girls. Unfortunately, they lost two girls, Jessica and Melissa Queen. You would think the team would have been hurt with this kind of loss, but they were not. Six girls returned from last year, in addition to four new girls. The team practiced Monday through Friday from 3:25 to 5:00. During practice they played games, worked on skills, and did conditioning. Their season consisted of fifteen matches, which ended with Sectionals and State Matches. The girls had a great season with many wins.

Last years the Freshmen Cheerleaders started a new tradition. With a new name and sponsor, Jan Lovelady, they certainly started the tradition off right. Under the leadership of head cheerleader Jordan Pritchett and CO-Head, Nina Franks, the girls blasted their way through cheer camp at U.A.B last summer. They received all superior ribbons and an all-superior trophy. Nina Franks made the UCA camp all stars. Last year students at MHS got involved in several ways, whether it was Band, Student Council, or being on the Montana Yearbook Staff. Some organizations emphasized on the academic accomplishments of students, while other focused on their beliefs. Organizations were always there to lend a helping hand for members and nonmembers. The Student Council allowed the student body to express their sympathy to the victims of the September 11th tragedy by purchasing stars to aid the Afghan children. With the many organizations at MHS there was a place of every student to participate. Organizations at MHS provided a place to relax and place to socialize with those alike and different. The organizations at MHS kept it going and finished it off.

The Symphonic Band had a great year. They showed off their talents by playing concerts this for their family and friends. The members of concert band also did other things during the year outside of class. Many students attended different honor bands to show off their individual talents. The band had a really great year.

Pep Band was also something that members of the marching band got involved with this year. Pep Band played for the University of Montevallo's basketball teams. They had a great time attending the games and the fans really enjoyed their music.

Marching
Troubadours have added another successful year to their list. Their show this year was a tribute to the rock group Styx. It consisted of "Mr Roboto", "Rockin The Paradise", "Too Much Time on my Hands" and "Lady". The band's half time performance was a nice touch to the football games last year. The Troubadours also showed off their talents by competing at Oneonta, where they received all superior ratings, Best in Class band, Best in Class Majorettes and second place in their division. They also competed at Lake Guntersville where they received all superior ratings and the Mayor's Choice Award for the Most Entertaining Band of the Day. "The band has continued their tradition of superior ratings and Troubadour Pride", said Band Director Craig Bates. The band had a great year last year and the Seniors will be greatly missed.

The Negotiators

Peer Helpers were a group of students who had been specially trained to help their peers through conflict mediation as well as any other student's needs. As in previous years, Peer Helpers had their own class period to concentrate on their work to help their peers. "I enjoy being in Peer Helpers because it gives me an opportunity to help people and help the community," said Junior Laura Kingsley. They helped the Juniors and Seniors of MHS get needed information by helping the representatives from colleges set up their tables for "College Day". "I am very proud to be in Peer Helpers. Peer Helpers are always there to help with things in our school, as well as our community," said Junior Ashley Brazzell. These Negotiators sponsored Red Ribbon Week and all Prom Promise activities. Montevallo High School's Peer Helpers always had "open minds...open doors".

STUDENT COUNCIL

Last year Student Council did a tremendous amount of work keeping Montevallo High School spirit strong. "Student Council gives students an opportunity to do something to help the school and get involved in what is going on," said Senior Molly Walker.

This committee of organizers made several activities possible such as, "Homecoming Week" and the "Children Relief Fund for Afghan Children". Student Council had fundraisers during the year to help raise money for the school. These Negotiators helped the community by having a canned food drive for the needy families and volunteering at a food pantry. During the spring, they held a blood drive and went to Auburn University for a Leadership Conference.

"Student Council is a great thing to be a part of because it keeps you out of trouble and lets everyone see that you are capable of doing 'great' things," said Junior Barry Goode.

Molly Walker, Student Council President, hurries to make it to a meeting on time. Molly was always prepared with the needed information and did a great job of leading Student Council.

Most students got enough of academics during the school day, but some students actually stayed later for academic clubs like scholar's bowl, math team, and Mu Alpha Theta. The scholar's bowl teams stayed late learning trivia and facts to prepare themselves for competition. The math teams arrived early and sharpened their skills for matches. Mu Alpha Theta helped with tutoring and various projects, and had a big impact on the school. All of these students made a fine example for Montevallo High School.

BRAIN POWER

Fight Club

The 2001-2002 school year's National Honor Society and Key Club were, as other years, service based organizations. The Key Club did such things as sell stars for the relief of Afghan children after the bombings by the U.S. of Afghanistan, as a result of the September 11, 2001 attacks. The Key Club also took part in reading books to elementary school students. National Honor society also did many service deeds. Every week NHS members tutored several underclassmen in their studies and they also dressed a family (bought them clothes for Christmas) during the holidays. These organizations truly fought for the community.

Where the Heart Is

First Priority and Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA), helped many students throughout the year with difficult events and situations. First Priority met every Tuesday at 7:15 a.m. They also held "Meet me at the Pole", a nationally recognized event, that gave students the opportunity to pray in a school environment. They were legally outside of school. FCA tried to meet every other week when the students did not have a game to participate in. At each meeting, the FCA members listened to a speaker, watched movies, sang songs, and talked about what was going on in the community. Every meeting the members were also spoiled with food. Both First Priority and FCA were programs used for an outreach for students. They were given the opportunity to do communitiy services to better the environment of Montevallo.

First Priority was open for all the students in the school. All students that joined, stated that they were a better person, because of it.

FFA is an organization designed to give students the opportunity to perform hands-on activities, such as, building various wood works, welding iron projects, learning about agriculture and horticulture. During the Fall, FFA had their 23rd annual fruit sell fundraiser. The students sold single and mixed boxes of fruit. The proceeds from this fundraiser went to buying new equipment and supplies. The money also went to traveling to different events, such as, the rodeo in Montgomery and to finance the organizations end of the year Bar-B-Que. Mr. Berry stated "FFA was very helpful for students, because they were able to learn skills to prepare for employment and secondary education."

Tyler Hall sorts through fruit for the annual FFA fruit sale. FFA worked very hard to sale a large amount of fruit for their organization.

Back to the Future II

Many of the clubs at MHS gave students a place to go. FBLA (Future Business Leaders Of America) and FCCLA (Family, Career, and Community Leaders of America) helped prepare students of the real world in different ways. In FBLA meetings, members discussed ways of improving the school. FBLA also participated in job shadowing and listened to guest speakers. FCCLA members were all grouped in second period for first semester. They also toured the town and looked at the houses for a field trip. Members also cooked for the needy and elderly regularly.

Neko Stoudmire, Shanteeka Reed, Ms. Triplett, Brittani Hayes, and Barry Goode all pose for a quick group picture before opening presents. FBLA also did some job shadowing last year.

Amanda Mills cleans up the dishes she uses while cooking. FCCLA members cooked for the elderly on several occasions.

Center Stage

The Theater Arts class worked very hard to perfect their acting skills last year. In order to prepare for their productions they arrived early or stayed late. All of the students in the class gave up a lot of their time to prepare for productions. Theater Arts put on several plays throughout the year, but their largest was the annual Christmas play. The troop performed "A Christmas Carol" with the help of the Montevallo Mainstreet Players. This was the troop's biggest production in several years. The Theater Arts class did a great job throughout the entire year.

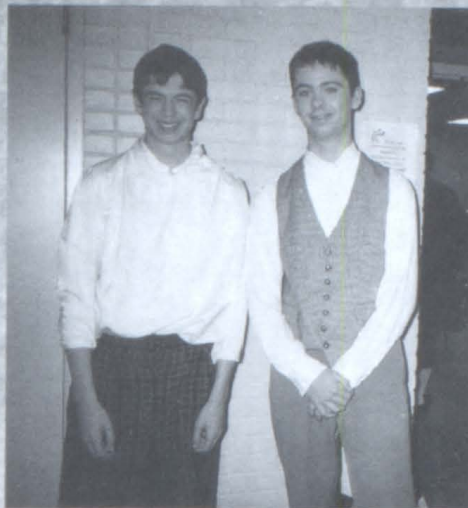

Mrs Layton and her son Levi take a break from acting. Levi played Tiny Tim in "The Christmas Carol".

A.J. Leggett waits to go onstage. All of the students in Theater Arts really enjoyed acting.

Spotlight

The MHS Spotlight staff helped keep the student body informed on many important topics such as the "Attack on America" and other current events through their bi-weekly publications. For example, the students were asked to participate in surveys such as "The Coke or Pepsi Challenge", "The Draft of American Soldiers", and the "September 11th Tragedy".

"Working on Spotlight allowed me to reach out to the community and make an impact on my surroundings," said Junior Jessica Queen. The staff also did creative things for Valentine's Day. Such things included selling items like Valentine Ads in the publication, balloons, carnations, and singing telegrams.

The staff worked hard and put in extra hours to produce their award-winning newspaper at least once every two weeks. Staff members were aided by Advisor, Jennifer Turner and Technical Advisor, Susie DeMent.

Ashley Santa Cruz and Kristen Simcik check the board for upcoming stories. Staff members like these two, worked hard to produce the award-winning newspaper.

"Being in Spotlight allowed me to interact with other students and develop my writing and people skills. Although it's not always easy, I really enjoyed contributing to the paper," said Junior Ashley Santa Cruz. Pageants, Football, and Basketball games are some of the many aspects and features covered by the Spotlight staff. "I enjoyed working on the Spotlight because it offered me the opportunity to work with my friends" said Senior John Paul Foster. The Spotlight was designed to entertain the student body and to inform them of what is going on in the world.

Down To You

The Mass Communications staff worked extremely hard to keep Montevallo High School up to date on the latest news. Mrs. Jennifer Turner did a wonderful job of passing on her Mass Communications experience from her time at MHS as a student. This year the staffers kept everyone informed on what was going on around the school, community, country, and the world through their weekly broadcasts. Students learned many new things from the shows. Mass Communications did a great job of bringing information Down To Us in the few minutes they were provided on Friday mornings.

Senior staffers Bruce Hyer and Rachel Ford review the format for the next broadcast. Each detail was very important in the end.

LIGHTS CAMERA ACTION

The camera could be considered the most important tool used in the Mass Communications studio. It was responsible for relaying news to students.

Mass Communications sponsor, Jennifer Turner, works very hard to proof everything before it is aired. She did an awesome job.

Many staffers would take time out during and after school to film different events. These guys liked watching the game while they got their grade.

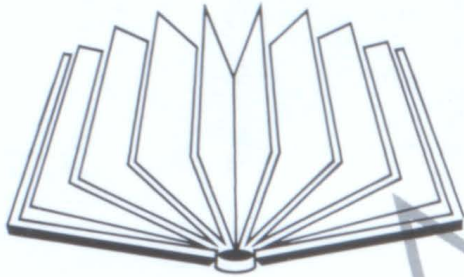

Rachel Ford and Molly Walker give a report on Friday morning during homeroom. Getting to third period late, due to a broadcast, was enjoyed by many students.

MHS TV News anchors Tonya Thompson, Brooke McGibboney, and Bruce Hyer chat during a broadcast. For them, sometimes it was the fun part of the show.

WHAT LIES

Montala's year started in July, when the members attended a yearbook convention at Vestavia High School. The staff had a lot of responsibilities. Rushing to get the spreads done on time was one of the hardest ones. There were a lot of new members on the staff, which put even more pressure on the Editors. The Editors had to spend a lot of time with the new staff to help them with their spreads. Once they completed the spreads, they celebrated all the hard work over the past year. The yearbook was What Lies Beneath all the moments captured throughout the year.

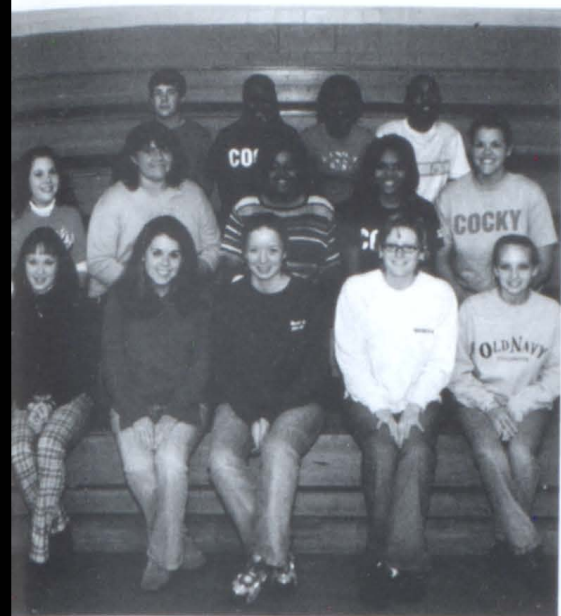

Juniors Barry Goode and Dessilyn Chappell fill out forms at registration. All members of the yearbook staff were required to sell 10 yearbooks.

The Montala staff shows us their funny faces. Montala was all about hard work and having fun.

BENEATH...

The Montala staff sings, "Happy Birthday" to Ms. Trip. This was one of the many occasions celebrated by the staff.

We would like to thank everyone who purchased an ad in the 2001-2002 yearbook. Your help was greatly appreciated. Ads were a wonderful way for local businesses to gain publicity as well as support the local high school. Last years ads were priced as following: Full page $300, Half page $150, One Fourth page $75, One Eighth page $40 and One Sixteenth page $20. Montala not only sold ads, we also sold Baby ads. Baby ads were a great way for seniors to look back at who they use to be and to see who they had become. Baby ads were also used to show friendships and how they had grown over the many years.

Many MHS students work at Lucky's, a local grocery store. Lucky's was a great supporter to MHS.

Junior Katie McWilliams eats Peanut M&Ms. M&Ms were a very popular snack last year.

Junior Sheena Hedgepath drinks a nice cold Coca Cola. Coke was a favorite among students

On April 11, 1984 the most beautiful baby girl was born.
She had long black hair and beautiful big brown eyes and a big smile that made everyone laugh. Today she still has that smile and she is still the most beautiful baby in the world and the number 1 Ebony Baby.

To Sean: Our darling red head,
Even then you were trying to fill your Grandpa's boots. We love you and are very proud of you.
May God bless and have nothing but the best in life for you.
Love,
Grandpa &
Grandma Moses

To my five "little babies",
I have had the pleasure of watching each of you mature into beautiful young women! We have shared so many memories together! So many laughs and tears have dawned our faces. Each of you were there when I needed you during the most difficult time of my life. I don't know if I ever let you know how much that truly meant to me—THANK YOU! You have allowed me to be apart of your worlds in so many facets! YOU ARE APART OF MY WORLD! I am truly going to miss each one of you! Each of you has truly brought joy into my life! As you embark upon life's long journey, just remember to stay true to yourself and ALWAYS believe in YOU, because I believe in you!

You will be deeply missed in 7th periods to come, but we know you will be here in spirit! Behave out there in the "real world"! It can get scary, but I know each of you can handle whatever comes your way! Congratulations and know that you are forever in my heart!

We all will miss you!

With so much love,
Ms. Trip "Your other Mother" and the Montala Staff of 2001-02

Since the day you were born you have exhibited a charisma that draws others to you. You have a love for the outdoors and what it has to offer. Follow your dreams and you will always be happy. We are so proud of you and blessed to have you as our son and brother.

Love,
Mom, Dad, & Holly

This past year has been filled with fun. The faculty and students made it through the year with any troubles. There was a lot of fun-filled activities that the students could have attended. Teachers spent their time getting to know the students and making lesson plans. All of the organizations and put forth a good effort to achieve their goals this year. To make this year better everyone worked very hard to make this year a memorable one.

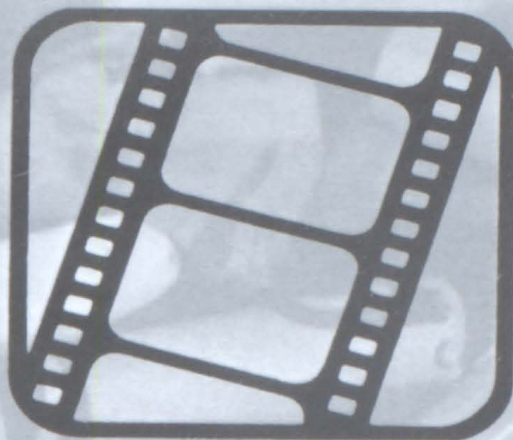

These drama students look very relieved after their play. The play was a huge success; it lasted for three days.

Seniors Jennifer Stephens and Christin Buttell take time out to do a sign for cheerleading. They had fun getting out of class.

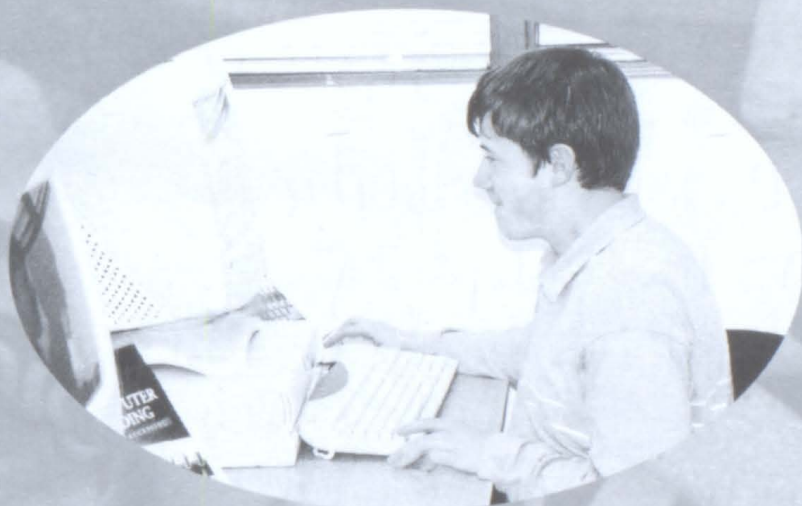

Sophomores Britney Young, Tiffany Piper, and Senior Brooke McGibboney perform a dance during a half time show at one of our football games. They enjoyed showing off their talents.

Varsity cheerleaders does one of their cheers during one of our pep rallies. They enjoyed cheering for the pep rallies.

Copy Editor Ben Simmons takes his time to complete one of his spreads for Montala. He enjoyed being on the staff.
